

ECOWORKS SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITY CHAMPIONS 2017

Dear Friends of EcoWorks,

We need your help to identify someone who has shown leadership in energy efficiency and/or sustainable building practices and deserves to be recognized? Nominate them for a Sustainable Community Champions Award at EcoWorks 2017 Annual Breakfast!

We are currently seeking nominations for EcoWorks Annual Breakfast Awards for Sustainable Community Champions. This award recognizes individuals, civic, entrepreneur/small businesses, corporations, and/or nonprofit organizations that are leaders in the fields of energy efficiency and sustainable building practices in Southeast Michigan. The nominee should be committed to sustainability and green practices, demonstrate leadership in the field and represent Southeast Michigan.

As you can see by the list of past honorees we have tended to focus on those who have demonstrated their commitment over a period of time and often have been “unsung heroes”.

Last Year's Awardees:

LeeAnne Walters - One of the first to raise concerns, about water quality in Flint, MI that eventual made the environmental crisis national news.

Mary Templeton - Mary Templeton is a trusted environmentalist with a wealth of experience providing sustainable strategies in Southeast Michigan. Executive Director of Michigan Saves, a nonprofit organization that provides financing solutions for renewable energy improvement projects.

Michael Craig - Craig's environmental efforts have earned Charles Drew Transition Center the title of a Michigan Green School and in 2015 he was named the Michigan Educator of the Year.

Cody Youth Ambassadors - A student group of Cody High School's Detroit Institute of Technology, made up of young leaders who are bringing sustainable change to their high school and the surrounding community.

Please submit the name of your nominee and short description of why you believe they deserve an award for consideration to nominate@warmtraining.org Please submit nominations no later than Friday, August 11th, 2017. A nomination does not guarantee an award.

The awards will be presented as part of EcoWorks Annual Breakfast on September, 15th, 2017 at The Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call Justin Schott, or Shaina Davidson at EcoWorks, (313) 894-1030

Your help is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
EcoWorks Event Committee
